Blumer Home Is Sold For a Boys' School

The Blumer home with approximately four acres of ground has been sold by Mrs. Blumer to John Brice, formerly of Monrovia. It is understood Mr. Brice expects to establish a school for boys and girls. He is an experienced school man and is expected to conduct a high grade institution. The sale was made through the J. W. Wright agency of Pasadena.

The portion sold includes the large residence and the upper end of the tract, extending as far south as the line of Olive street, which bisects the property. It is an ideal setting for such an institution as Mr. Brice proposes to establish.

The residence was built by the late J. G. Blumer about 35 years ago. The large building and its slightly location made it a landmark for many years until the growth of the trees surrounding it made the house less conspicuous. The important place occupied by the Blumer family and their home in early community affairs of Sierra Madre make the sale of the property an event of unusual interest.

A BIG BRIDGE WITHOUT A ROAD TO APPROACH NEAR IT

The people of Monrovia and the towns to the east are making a howl over the slowness of the state road commission, the county bosses or most any one else over the delay of the work in restoring the Foothill boulevard to its former standing as a popular highway. The floods of a year ago demolished the old bridge over the San Gabriel river on the Foothill road and work on a new bridge in another location was started last October. It is a concrete structure over 1000 feet long and will cost about $150,000. The bridge proper is now receiving the finishing touches and will be ready for inspection March 1, but it will be many weeks yet before the same can be used because it is a bridge without a road at either end. It will stand there as a monument with no way to get to the floor of it unless you use a twenty-foot ladder or learn to fly. Before it can be put into service a mile and a half of new roadway will have to be built, and no steps have yet been taken to get the work started and this is why the towns in that section are kicking up a fuss over the delay. The Foothill road has lost much of its travel because the valley highway is open and in good shape.

DR. CAMPBELL PREACHES IN SIERRA MADRE SUNDAY

Rev. Dr. James M. Campbell of Claremont will occupy his old pulpit in the Congregational church next Sunday morning. Although past eighty years of age and without the use of his eyes for some time, Dr. Campbell is enjoying excellent health and retains the full vigor of his remarkable mind. His output of literary work is fully up to that of earlier years in volume and quality and upholds the standing in this country and abroad which his books and magazine articles have earned for him. His many friends will doubtless welcome the chance to hear him again.

The Woman's Guild will hold an all-day meeting at the parish house on Friday, Feb. 16, beginning at 10 a. m. During Lent the Guild will meet every Friday at the Parish house to work on the garments to be sent in the Alaska box. All who are interested in the work of the Guild are asked to be present.

ENTERTAINMENT AT ST. RITA'S AUDITORIUM MONDAY

The ladies of St. Rita's church will hold one of their popular card parties in St. Rita's auditorium on Monday, Feb. 12th, beginning at 8 p. m. Valuable prizes will be awarded. After the card party refreshments will be served. A local orchestra has been engaged to allow all who wish to do so to spend a couple of hours in a social dance.

Admission, including everything, will be 50 cents. Those who have not done so before can secure tickets at the box office.

The entertainment being on the evening of Lincoln's birthday, the program will include patriotic numbers appropriate to the occasion.

ZONE ORDINANCE IS RECEIVED

The proposed city zoning ordinance has been completed by G. Gordon Whitnall, and is now in the hands of City Attorney Frederick Baker. It was referred to Mr. Baker by the city trustees at last night's meeting for the purpose of checking up the legal steps necessary to present the ordinance to the voters before it is acted upon by the trustees, and also for the purpose of studying some legal phases of the ordinance. Accompanying the ordinance was a city map showing the various classes of restrictions.

In the ordinance Mr. Whitnall modified the territory previously suggested by him as that to be opened to sanitariums. The line west of Baldwin avenue remains the same, being practically the north line of Carter avenue. On the east the Canyon Park tract is excluded and the line then runs some distance to the north of the line of Mira Monte avenue, as previously suggested.

The ordinance was discussed somewhat warmly but inasmuch as it was not up for action the discussion did not get anywhere. Public hearings must be called before the board can take action.

The board heeded the petition of a number of property owners against the removal of an oak tree standing in Park avenue, and rescinded the order to have it taken out.

The board also granted permission to property owners on Manzanita avenue to remove pepper trees which are destroying curb and sidewalks and replace them with palms.

PIRATES VIE WITH ROYAL SOCIETY

"To Have and to Hold" Shows Contrasting Action of Great Historical Interest

Pirates being thrown headlong from towering decks; swordfights while cannon boom, and a thrilling swing for life 130 feet across and over the deck of a rakish corsair craft—such are the thrill feature features of George Fitzmaurice's new Paramount picture production of "To Have and to Hold," with Betty Compson and Bert Lytell in the featured leads, aided by Theodore Kosloff and W. J. Ferguson in strong roles.

The pirate incidents were taken in the ocean off Balboa, Calif., aboard the South Sea trading schooner, "William G. Irwin," specially rebuilt for pirate purposes. A hundred tough looking pirates with swords, pistols, bandannas, and all the other earmarks of their calling, form a vivid background against which the principals play their thrilling parts.

Mr. Fitzmaurice devoted much time to the closing scenes in the luxurious banquet room of the court of King James I of England. This sequence, with its wealth of gorgeous seventeenth century costumes, particularly those worn by Miss Compson and Mr. Kosloff, is said to provide a strongly contrasting note to the color of the pirate scenes. In this banquet scene appear "in person" such notables as William Shakespeare, Ben Johnson and the Duke of Buckingham.

Ouida Bergere adapted "To Have and to Hold" from the famous romantic novel by Mary Johnston which was a best seller some years ago. The picture will be presented at the Colonial theater next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

J. W. Strickland is going to help meet the demand for store rooms by finishing the 10-foot section on the north side of his building for store purposes. It was intended originally as a covered driveway to reach the loading platform and warehouse at the rear. Since the improvement of the alley entrance the front entrance will not be needed for that purpose. The change will make a more attractive front on the building and obviate an undesirable sidewalk crossing by the trucks.

Water Dept. Said To Be On Paying Basis Now

(By Tom Henderson, City Water Superintendent)

I would like to say a few words upon the water conditions of Sierra Madre and tell just what has been done since last April. A few published statements have caused people to make inquiries which I hope to answer so that all may be informed.

We had on hand $12,000 of the $60,000 bond issue, $48,000 having been spent on improvements to our system. The No. 1 well had been completed, with motor and pump all set, but couldn't be put into use until the settling basin was completed. Accordingly we began work at once on the settling basin to take care of the water. Then a substantial foundation was put under the No. 2 pump and the derrick was overhauled.

The tunnel on the west side of Sierra Madre Canyon was in bad condition. It had caved in years ago and water was being held back and lost. The tunnel was cleaned out and re-timbered and by this we secured considerably more gravity water. About 400 feet of new 16-inch pipe was put in the gravity line as this line was in bad shape and more gravity water was being lost through leakage. We then replaced with new pipe all exposed gravity line from the tunnels to the big reservoir at the head of Grove street. By these methods we cut down our power bills as the increased gravity water in the big reservoir reduced the amount of water necessary to be boosted from the small reservoir.

The sand box at the head of Baldwin avenue was taken down, reset and connected up to avoid the loss of a great amount of gravity water that had run for years down the east gutter of Baldwin avenue. Enough water went down there at times to supply a few good irrigators. By making this connection we gave the consumers at the head of Baldwin avenue a good steady pressure, whereas before they were often without water when noon came.

When the Sierra Madre Canyon water system was taken over by the city everybody knows many homes were without water for as long as nine months, and the houses on the knoll had oily water at that. We have installed mains that will take care of the future, one 6-inch main for houses that can be served by gravity water, and one for the houses that must be served with pump water. The pump works automatically at very low expense, as we have installed a new tank that avoids loss of water. The highest houses in the canyon now have not less than 20 pounds pressure. The city water department has spent about $6,000 in the canyon, but it will take more yet, as we intend to install a modern pump in the lower well. The income from the canyon district runs around $160 monthly, or about the average of one of our good irrigators. But it is now part of our system and we feel proud of it.

Concrete foundations have been put under the booster pumps to take the place of loose planks. All possible dead ends have been taken care of to avoid stagnant water and give better pressure.

Alegria has been connected with Mt. Trail and Baldwin avenues; Mountain Trail with Santa Anita Court, San Gabriel Court and Lowell avenue. A new line on Sierra Madre Place gave better pressure below Central avenue as far west as Park avenue.

Last irrigating season was the first on record that the irrigators could get water when they wanted it and as much as they wanted, without any schedule whatever. By simply calling for a meter they got the water. The more water went out the more money came in. I would like to hear in next week's issue if there was one irrigator in Sierra Madre that could complain on pressure. We never had one complaint through the summer.

The Real Increase

Last spring we had more than one-half of all our domestic meters stuck or out of condition. A man was put on to read and repair meters exclusively. A letter to the Sierra Madre News dated January 26, 1923, claimed that 46,711,275 gallons more of water were used in 1922 than in the previous year. Now in the past ten months we installed 51 new services, of which 12 have not yet been in use. Three were installed where there were formerly two houses on one service. This leaves

WORK STARTED ON NEW HOTEL

Excavations have been in progress this week on the Putnam property on the south side of Central for the new hotel building to be erected by M. N. Putnam of Santa Ana and Contractor A. T. Hesse of Los Angeles. The foundation trenches show the building will occupy the full frontage of 100 feet, running back about 120 feet. So far no building permit has been taken out for the structure.

36 new services actually using water, and 160 in the canyon averaging up to the minimum, using all told 6,000,000 gallons. This leaves 40,000,000 gallons, not more water used but more water registered.

We had water wasted, not doing anybody any good when the meters were estimated. Some people had paid $3 or $4 but after a new meter was installed paid as high as $18. Some irrigators were estimated at $18 and after a good meter was installed they paid as high as $50. This is where it paid to put on an exclusive meter man.

A water consumer is better satisfied at paying a higher bill based on correct reading of a good meter than he is at paying an estimated water bill.

Meters All Working

Last spring we had approximately 400 meters out of commission. Some had been stuck for years. Some were hard to find. At last month's reading we found 8 meters stuck and they were attended to promptly.

We have installed nine four-inch fire hydrants, two being in the canyon.

The following streets have no mains at all: Montecito between Baldwin and Mountain Trail, Laurel between Mountain Trail and Canyon, Olive between Baldwin and Auburn, Mira Monte between Auburn and Baldwin, West Carter Avenue, Hermosa 400 feet between Grand View and Highland, Lima south of Central, Sunnyside south of Central, Mariposa and Ramona west of Park, nothing on Sierra Madre or Live Oak, short 2-inch on Victoria and Windsor Lanes.

A statement in the Pasadena Post was to the effect that water runs to waste. That is just what we want to avoid. We want a good dam a quarter mile above our tunnels to hold the water and make it soak into the ground. This will give a longer and heavier flow through the tunnels, adding to our gravity supply which costs nothing to any part of the system.

We have no sure means of supply above our gravity lines. We depend on the line from the Quarter Way, which stops running on the hot summer days. This is hard on some consumers above the gravity line. We must look forward to a large reservoir to catch some water that runs to waste when we don't want it and supply us when we do want it, to avoid the high cost of pumping.

The improvements I have mentioned have been paid for principally out of the water revenue fund. Only $12,000 was left out of the bond fund and the settling basin cost about $10,000, leaving only $2,000 for the other improvements from that source. This indicates that a great many extensions and improvements can be made out of the water revenue fund without resorting to a bond issue, especially provided we can conserve a greater volume of gravity water.

High Tributes To the Memory Of Howard Hill

"We liked him here—they will certainly like him up there."

That simple characterization of Howard Hill expressed the heart thought of all who heard the beautiful funeral address delivered by Dr. James M. Campbell on Wednesday.

Mr. Hill passed away on Monday after an illness of about three months with paralysis. He would have been 76 years of age on the first of May, and was a native of New York, in which state he spent his boyhood. As a young man he spent several years with his uncle, William McKee, founder of the Missouri Democrat, a radical Republican and anti-slavery paper, later known as the Globe-Democrat. The call of the pioneer northwest attracted him to St. Paul, Minn. There he married Hortense Peterson and they resided there about 25 years, coming to Los Angeles in 1892. Since 1906 they have lived in Sierra Madre. With Mrs. Hill there are left two children, Mrs. George B. Morgridge and Victor C. Hill, three others having passed before.

He also leaves two brothers, C. W. Hill of Spokane and B. F. Hill of St. Paul.

During his active years Mr. Hill was a builder and contractor. However, during his pioneer days in Minnesota his business experiences were varied and exciting enough to make a fascinating story.

Among all who knew Mr. Hill his character was recognized as synonymous with integrity. His innate honesty made it difficult for him to credit others with anything but honest motives. His kindly, lovable spirit made him a favorite with old and young. No one ever appealed for his aid but found him ready to help to the limit of his ability. In his judgments of others he was charitable to the last degree, but that did not cause him to excuse any weakness or deviate in the slightest from the highest standards in his own life. His religious faith was clear and definite, concerned not with theories and creeds but as something to be lived. His faithfulness in attendance and support of the church was proverbial among his associates.

It was fitting that the funeral service should be conducted by Dr. Campbell of Claremont, who was for years his pastor and one of his most revered friends. The service was held in the Congregational church with which his life in Sierra Madre was closely bound up. It was largely attended by friends as well as by a large number of relatives.

The church was beautifully decorated by the ladies of the Aid society. The only music was the singing by the large congregation of his favorite hymn, "How Firm a Foundation," and the playing of other hymns before and after the service by Mrs. A. F. Snell.

Dr. Campbell's discourse was a beautiful exposition of faith and hope built upon the firm foundation found in the life just closed. It was a beautiful appreciation by one qualified as few are to estimate the worth of such a life. The simple service in the church was followed by the interment in the Sierra Madre cemetery.

Arcadia Bankers Get New Charter

Announcement was made on Saturday that Jonathan S. Dodge, state superintendent of banks, has granted permission to President C. L. Durham, A. L. Parker, J. E. Rocher and George W. Ackerman, officers and directors of the First National Bank of Arcadia, to conduct a departmental commercial and savings bank in the city of Arcadia with an authorized capital of $100,000, a surplus of $2500 and a contingent expense fund of $2,500.

The erection of a fine, modern bank building on the northwest corner of Huntington drive and First Avenue, Arcadia, is planned by those interested in the First National Bank of Arcadia, according to persistent but unconfirmed reports that are being circulated.

The reported site for the proposed bank building is owned by Mr. Parker, one of the directors of the First National Bank of Arcadia. It has a frontage of 150 feet on Huntington and 50 feet on First. The regular departmental business will be conducted from an entrance on Huntington and the savings department from the First avenue side, it is said.

WEST COVINA NEW CITY IN SAN GABRIEL VALLEY

Another city has sprung up over night in San Gabriel Valley. The newcomer is West Covina, which has voted to incorporate by an overwhelming majority.

A sewer farm situated in the district and owned by Covina caused the action, which prevents its use by the neighboring municipality.

West Covina boasts of few structures that would place it in the city class, although it possesses one city building, which will be used as a nucleus for further building, according to plans.

PRUNING OF FROST-INJURED CITRUS TREES TO BE FEATURED

Because of the special problems in the pruning of citrus trees injured by frost, a special series of pruning demonstrations has been arranged by the Agricultural Extension Service cooperating with the Citrus Growers' Department of the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau.

Following the recommendations of the Agricultural Extension Service last summer, many growers have delayed pruning injured orchards until this year. In order to meet the convenience of growers, demonstrations will be held in the following districts during the latter half of February:

San Fernando, Roscoe, La Canada, Pasadena, Sierra Madre, South Santa Anita, Azusa-Glendale, Covina, Monrovia, San Dimas, Claremont-LaVerne, Pomona, Walnut-Spadra, N. Whittier Heights, Whittier, Rivera, Downey, Baldwin Park.

MISSION PLAY DRAWING CROWD

The Mission play is again at full swing at Old San Gabriel. The attendance is proving exceptionally large for the beginning of the season. The play is better than ever.

Monroe Salisbury, the noted California romantic actor, has created a sensation in his interpretation of the immortal role of Fray Junipero Serra in the play. It is unanimously agreed by all the old patrons of the play that Salisbury is the best man who has yet appeared in the part, which is saying a great deal when one considers the six eminent American actors who have preceded him.

In addition to the already famous singers in the play, three noted vocalists have been added this year. They are Wilbur Herwig from the Metropolitan Opera Company, New York; Madam Lillian Buchter-Bowles, also of the Metropolitan Opera Company, and Roumalia Ena, a famous Hawaiian singer.

Among the dancers, Julita Ruiz, imported from Barcelona, Spain, is making a great hit with the audiences.

Another notable addition to the cast is Tyrone Power, III. This is his first appearance on the stage. He is now twelve years old and represents the third generation of great actors of his name. His grandfather, Tyrone Power, was one of the greatest actors of all time, and his father, Tyrone Power, who once played the leading role in the Mission play, is among the most famous of living actors.

MAY TEST OUT NEW GAS AT ROSS FIELD, ARCADIA

Los Angeles Physician Applies for Permission to Erect All-Metal
Airship

The manufacture of a non-inflammable gas that will revolutionize lighter-than-air flying and take the place of the expensive helium and the extremely dangerous hydrogen gas now commonly used for airship inflation, is the claim of Dr. Curran, a Los Angeles physician. The new product will be known as curranium.

According to Lieutenant C. P. Kane, commanding officer of Ross field, the new gas has been put to various tests and in every instance has appeared to bear out the owner's claims as to its fire-resisting properties.

Dr. Curran has applied to the government for permission to build a 250-foot airship at the local post for the purpose of demonstrating the practicability of the gas. The proposed new airship is to be of all metal construction of a light and durable grade and in case permission is granted, it will be the first attempt to construct a complete metal aircraft.

The matter is now in the hands of the war department and it is expected action will be taken at an early date. If the decision of the war department is favorable, it is stated, work on the actual construction will be commenced at Ross Field in the near future and will necessitate the bringing of a corps of workmen and their families to Arcadia. It will take approximately one year to build the ship.

The financing of the project, it is stated, will be undertaken by a trio of Los Angeles capitalists.

Demonstration of the gas will also be made on the present type of wood and fabric aircraft. It is understood that the cost of manufacture is reasonable. Heretofore helium, the only non-inflammable inflating gas to be discovered, has proven impracticable because of its prohibitive price, due to the scarcity of helium deposits in the United States, and chemists all over the world have been working on formulas for the manufacture of a cheaper inflating gas. Dr. Curran's invention promises to be one of the most important of recent years.—Monrovia Messenger.

BY THE WAY

PRICELESS

The things which parents can do for their children are many and varied. The things they would like to do are not always possible. Moreover, the foolish ambition of some parents for their children is matched only by the foolish desires of the children themselves.

There is only one heritage of certain and indispensable value which parents can pass on. To the child it may not mean much. Its value becomes apparent only as he lives and observes. The longer he lives the more valuable it becomes to him.

The Hebrew wise man said a good name is more to be desired than great riches. Later we were told "Good name in man and woman is the immediate jewel of their soul. Who steals my purse steals trash.....But he who filches from me my good name robs me of that which not enriches him and makes me poor indeed." And Shakespeare might have added "He robs my children of that which is the right inheritance of every child brought into the world."

Pity then the children who are robbed by their own parents. Think of the handicap of a young man starting in business with an inherited fortune and under a suspicion which prompts other business men to say: "If he is as crooked as his father was we'll have to watch him."

The height of childish ambition may be for daddy to buy him a street car or a bass drum, or a yacht. But some day he may be called aside by men whom he has grown up to respect and told: "My boy, if you are half as good a man as your father was—you're all right." Some of us who have had that experience know that he will not then be concerned as to whether his father left him a railroad or a bank account. Things like that will lose their importance in the realization that he has an inheritance which money could not buy.

SHORT AND SNAPPY

On daily newspapers, every headline writer knows exactly how many letters he can crowd into a single column head.

Men and things that have short names get easily into headlines. When names and words contain many letters, short substitutes are found for headline use. If no short substitute can be found, the headlines talk about something else.

Some months ago a newspaper man made an interesting comment on this in connection with the fact that anything that the late Theodore Roosevelt did, always got into the news.

He said that if Roosevelt's name had been used in full it would have appeared much less frequently. Nine letters fill too much space in a headline. But about the time of the Spanish-American war some head-writer hit upon "Teddy" and when age and honors made this a trifle flippant another writer came to the rescue with the shorter "T. R."

When two letters can give to every reader a vivid picture of a single personality, it is hard to keep that person out of the headlines.

During the latter days of the war if the French army did anything, "Foch" did it. Four letters. If the British army did anything, "Haig" did it. Four letters again. If the American army did anything, "Yanks" did it. Five letters. There are eight in "Pershing."

"If Pershing's name had been 'Cox' " remarked a head-writer, "he would be President today."

In ordinary news an investigation is a "probe." Whiskey is "rum." A steamship is a "liner." A socialist is a "red." "Early" is used in the sense of preliminary. "Notes" for observes or comments upon.

A charming impersonality characterizes the work of the headline writer. Sometimes the short word is more expansive and glorifying than the longer and more accurate term—as when inexpensive jewelry becomes "gems." Sometimes the shorter word is both short and ugly, as "ban," "bar," "bogus," "oust," "quiz,"—words that indicate a brisk and suspicious severity, whereas tact and even apologies may have accompanied the action taken.

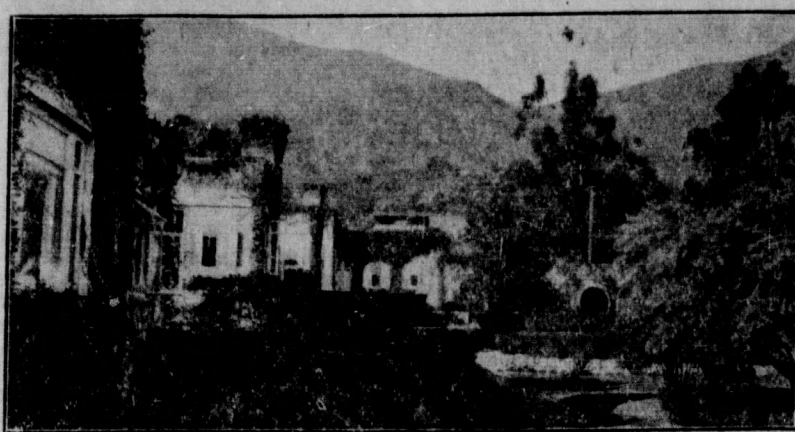

Now these headline words do not occur many times in ordinary speech, but it is surprising how they creep into our habits of thinking.

It is an American trait to classify people and things at headline speed—to slap a label on a man or a thing or an idea and to be very reluctant to change the conception so formed.

Headline reading and headline thinking are good enough for their real purpose.

Headlines are to be read so that you can find the subjects you want to know about and skip those that you don't want to dig into. But you can't decide anything wisely from headline information alone and you can't think about affairs that are important to you if you form your thoughts in the jargon and abbreviations of headlines.

But—if you have something to say and want it heard—make it short and snappy.

WOMAN'S CLUB NEWS

By Press Chairman, Mrs. Besse Palmer Rhodes.
Lest We Forget

Just a reminder that Monday, Feb. 12, will be Reciprocity Day. It seems impossible that any club member need be reminded of this.

Friday evening, Feb. 9, is the limit set for receiving reservations. Mrs. Minnie Kimball (black 52) and Mrs. Walter Anderson (blue 89), being delegated to this duty. Since it is anticipated that the capacity of the club will be taxed in caring for the club family and its many out-of-town guests, club members may not have luncheon guests, but are urged to make use of their guest tickets, thus making it possible for many to hear these splendid addresses who might not otherwise be so privileged. Club members are also urged to be prompt in their attendance at both morning and afternoon sessions, and so avoid the confusion which attends late arrivals and diverts attention from the speaker.

Through the untiring efforts of the program chairman, Mrs. W. J. Lawless, assisted by chairmen of other standing committees, last minute details for the success of the day have been arranged and barring the likelihood of a change of program because of circumstances unforeseen, plans are finished for "a perfect day," the cooperation of "Pluvius" being the only uncertain quantity.

Art Meeting

At the invitation of Miss Ella Shepard Bush, chairman of the Art section of the club, all ladies interested are urged to attend a meeting to be held in the club parlors Monday, Feb. 19, at 2 o'clock. Mr. Arthur H. Miller, curator of the print room of the Cannel & Chaffin gallery, will talk on prints and their various processes, making use of about twenty illustrations. Following this talk, there will be a conference of the art committee, and others interested, to lay plans for the very splendid lecture planned by Miss Bush for March 29, at which time Mrs. Bannell Sawyer will discourse on Burne-Jones.

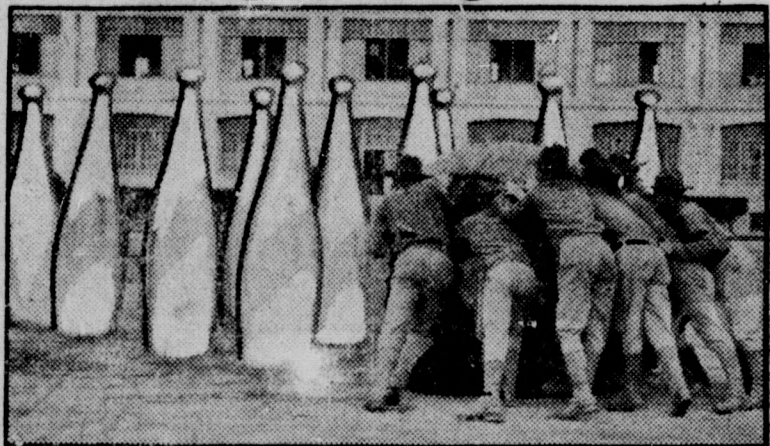

Glad Tidings

It is with a feeling of joy and intense gratitude that, after consulting with those who are in close attendance at the bedside of the beloved club "Mother," Mrs. J. A. Osgood, the press chairman sends out the glad tidings that she is slowly but surely regaining strength and is anticipating the time when she may resume her accustomed place at club meetings.

St. Valentine's Dance

Tonight, Friday, Feb. 9, at the club house everything will be "special"—decorations, features, prizes and music and all for the usual admission price. Plan to come.

THESE are marines at the Mare Island navy yard, on the Pacific coast, at play. Just look at the size of the tenpins, and the pushball with which the leathernecks are bowling them down! They say it's great sport, but you want to be mighty careful not to be caught by accident under a falling pin. The pinboy must have a pretty strenuous job at this game.

PUBLIC BENEFITS OF FARM BUREAU

The maintenance of a strong active membership in the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau in an important sense is a public responsibility, although at first glance such may not appear to be the case. It should be borne in mind, however, that the only evidence to the State University and the Federal Department of Agriculture of support for, and interest in, cooperative extension work in agriculture is that afforded by the size and activity of the Farm Bureau organization. This is particularly the case in California, where the requirement laid down by the Director of Agricultural Extension who administers Smith-Lever funds, is the organization of a Farm Bureau with a membership of 20 per cent of the farmers in the county.

The Farm Bureau organization, therefore, makes it possible to maintain extension agents in the county. The value of an extension agent, or agents, to the agricultural interests of a county cannot be measured in terms of dollars and cents, but there is no question that the service of these agents is frequently of inestimable value to the agricultural interests of the county and in turn to the business interests as well.

It therefore becomes in an impor-

In addition, it is of more extension workers being should be remembered that among the stationed in the county. In other most important factors in determining words, the greater the membership, the number of extension workers located in a county is the membership the greater the service available to the farmers of the county.

Distinctiveness Enhances Desirability

Convenience Creates
Comfort

"Build Distinctive, Convenient Homes"

Of course you are going to build a home some day—who is there who has not that ambition? But, there are two kinds of dwellings which may be styled homes. One is put together on one-unit plan—every house on the block alike as two peas in a pod. The other is to plan your home for distinctiveness—putting some of yourself into its construction. And there is a vast difference between them.

In which type would you prefer to spend the rest of your life? Would you need more than a thought to decide?

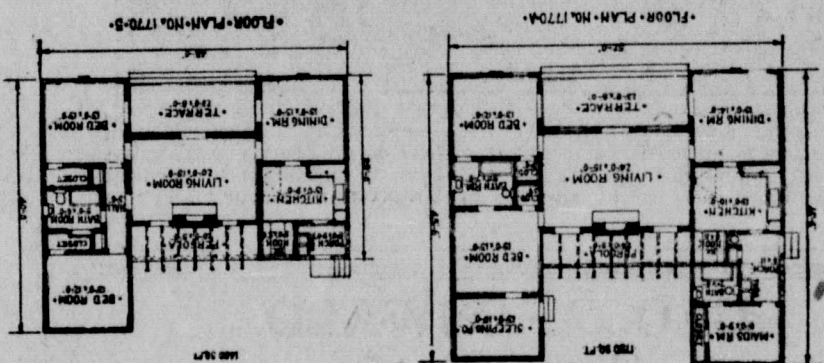

Distinctiveness in a home adds a thousand-fold to its desirability—as a place to live, or, on occasion, to sell. Let our home-builders consult with you—tell them your ideas and let them suggest how they can best be worked out—BUILD YOURSELF AND YOUR IDEALS INTO THE PLACE YOU ARE TO CALL HOME.

Then, when you get inside, you also find two types of dwellings. One is the staid, conventional one, with the rooms four-square, minus window seats and breakfast nooks, with the kitchen twice as large as it should be and with no thought to convenience and the saving steps.

The other type is a really cozy, comfy, delightful place to spend a day or a lifetime. There is a living room with large windows, and opening off from it is a den, which can be made just what you or the wife want it to be. There are plenty of closets, the cupboard and utensil containers are built in, saving room and labor; the bedrooms are light and airy and vary in shape, permitting the most delightful individuality in their furnishing.

Ah, this latter is the kind of a home I want—aren't you saying that now? Well, you can just as well have a distinctive, convenient home as the other kind. It costs little more, and the satisfaction which you will derive from it will repay you day by day, and every day, as you enjoy its beauties and benefits.

Start at once. Buy that lot today. Or, if you have the ground already secure, begin to plan the home that you will have, almost before you realize it, if you but start in earnest. Talk it over with the wife and the children. They will convince you if you have any remaining doubts.

"PLAN NO. 1770-B"

It would be hard to conceive of a more pretentious, distinctive and practical home than the one we are featuring above.

The alternate floor plans convey unique arrangement of rooms which are bound to please. They reflect compactness and feature time and labor saving conveniences which are the pride of the housewife.

The exterior is simple and yet attractive.

Address Home Building Editor for any information concerning these home plans.

These citizens and firms have been watching you and hoping you would get out of the renting class by buying or building a home of your own. They are paying for this series of home-building articles to help to inspire you to action. They have retained the advice of home experts which is yours for the asking. Address all inquiries to "Home Building Editor" care of this paper.

GRAND OPERA COMING SOON

San Carlo Company Begins Fortnight Engagement in Los Angeles Next Week

Noteworthy among the many brilliant musical attractions visiting Los Angeles this season is the two weeks' engagement at Philharmonic Auditorium, beginning Monday, February 12, of the San Carlo Grand Opera Company. Greatly augmented in all its component parts and with many new and distinguished European and American artists upon its roster of principals, the San Carlo forces are said to be the most complete ever assembled for touring purposes.

There will be fifteen performances, comprising fourteen different operas; the delightful Puccini work, "Madame Butterfly," with Tamaki Miura in the title role, being down for two presentations. Distinguished singers to be heard will include Marie Rappold, late leading soprano of the Metropolitan Opera; Anna Fitzu, dramatic soprano; Bianca Saroya, dramatic soprano; Josephine Lucchese, coloratura; Sofia Charlebois, lyric soprano; Stella De-Mettw, and Anita Klinova, mezzo sopranos.

The leading masculine members of the San Carlo include Richard Bonelli, eminent Italian baritone, Amador Famadas, noted Spanish dramatic tenor; Rogelio Baldrich, and Romeo Boscacci, Italian tenors; Mario Valle and Giuseppe Interrante, baritones, and those two sterling basses, Pietro De-Biasi and Natale Cervi. The conductors are Carlo Peroni, late of the Scottish Opera, and Aldo Franchetti, of Milan.

The operas are: First week—Monday, "La Tosca;" Tuesday, "Butterfly;" Wednesday, "Aida;" Thursday matinee, "Martha," evening, "La Boheme;" Friday, "Rigoletto;" Saturday matinee, "Carmen," evening, "Il Trovatore;" second week—Monday, "La Gioconda;" Tuesday, "Mme. Butterfly;" Wednesday, "Jewels of the Madonna;" Thursday, matinee, "Faust," evening, "Cavalleria," and "Pagliacci;" Friday, "Lohengrin;" Saturday matinee, "Salome." No performance Saturday evening.

Prices are popular: 50c to $2.50 evenings and Saturday matinee, and 50c to $2.00 Thursday matinees. Seat sale now on.

SEEKING UTILITY POULTRY STANDARD

Following a request from the Poultry Producers of Southern California and numerous other poultrymen, the executive committee of the Poultrymen's Department of the Los Angeles County Farm Bureau, held a special meeting recently to which were invited representative poultrymen of Southern California for the purpose of planning a standard for judging utility poultry. By the adoption of a utility standard poultrymen of Southern California will be able to have the best information obtainable on the right type of birds for utility purposes. The Chairman of the Poultrymen's Department of the Farm Bureau was authorized to appoint a committee to prepare such a standard and present it for approval.

Chairman Hogsett named the following committee which is composed of the best qualified men in Southern California: M. A. Schoolfield, Gardena, chairman; Judge Masterson, San Diego; Will Blackman, Los Angeles; Geo. C. England, Inglewood and V. R. Long, Baldwin Park. Mr. R. B. Eason of the University of California was also asked to work on this committee.

PREPARE NOW FOR SPRING SPRAYING

This Is the Season to Prepare for a Good Crop From Your Deciduous Trees

Spring is almost with us and deciduous fruit growers should be making preparations to spray their trees. Most of the common diseases and insect pests can be controlled with one spraying just when the buds are swelling in the spring. Such diseases are shot hole fungus of the apricot, leaf curl of the peach and the insect called peach twig borer which also attacks apricots.

For peaches, spray either with Bordeaux mixture, 5-5-50 formula, plus 2 lbs. of powdered basic lead arsenate to 50 gallons of the mixture or liquid lime sulfur, 9-1 formula.

For the apricots spray with Bordeaux mixture (5-5-50) plus 2 lbs. of powdered basic arsenate to each 50 gallons of the mixture. Recent investigations have shown that lime sulfur is detrimental to apricot trees, producing a trouble designated as sulfur sickness, and so it should not be used.

Another disease which appears to be becoming serious is peach and apricot scab. It forms numerous small, circular, sooty spots sometimes confined to one portion of the fruit and at other times scattered over the whole surface. Fruit affected with this disease is so unsightly that it is practically worthless. The standard spring spray will not control this disease. It can be controlled by spraying with self-boiled lime sulfur. For early varieties spray one month after the petals drop; for mid-season varieties, spray one month after the petals drop and a second time three weeks later; and for late varieties spray the same as for mid-season varieties, with the addition of a third one month later.

The Codlin moth is the worst insect pest of the apple and pear. It can be controlled by spraying first just as the petals are dropping, using 2 1/2 lbs. powdered or 5 lbs. paste arsenate of lead to 100 gallons of water. A second spraying should be given three weeks later and the same strength, and a third spray two weeks later, using a weaker strength, 2 pounds of powdered or 4 pounds of paste arsenate of lead to 100 gallons of water. In the Antelope Valley the acid arsenate of lead can be used on account of the dry atmosphere.

For apricot brown rot spray with an 8-8-50 formula of Bordeaux mixture when the greatest number of buds are showing the pink while cracking open; that is usually when about one-third of the blossoms are completely opened. Where the disease has been bad apply another spray after more blossoms have opened. Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon the necessity for the use of the spring spray. Quality of product is being recognized as a necessity. Growers must try for quality. Spraying will do much towards obtaining it.

GETS GREEN CELERY FROM YELLOW SEEDS

If a waiter in a restaurant brings you a round steak when you ordered filet mignon you may send it back. But what is a person to do when he buys what he believes to be cabbage seed and doesn't find out until they grow up in the garden that they are sweet peas?

A question like this was answered in an opinion handed down by the district court of appeals last week.

The opinion was given in the suit of Ben Miller against a seed company. Miller purchased $32 worth of what purported to be golden yellow celery seed. The seed grew green celery, alleged to be valueless. A jury gave him $4000 damages.

TIPPED RICE SACK SPILLS KEEFE'S WEDDING SECRET

A paper bag of rice tipped over the head of President Walt Keefe of the Monrovia Rotary club during the Kiwanis luncheon Thursday, broke the news to nearly 100 business and professional men assembled that Mr. Keefe had taken a bride. At the time, however while smilingly accepting the congratulations of his friends, he refused to make any statement beyond promising, a box of cigars in the near future. It was learned, however, that the marriage of the popular Rotarian chief, who is also district agent of the Southern Counties Gas company, took place Wednesday in Los Angeles, when Mr. Keefe and Sayonna M. Healy of Portland, Ore., were quietly married. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Tuttle of Monrovia being the only witnesses.—Monrovia Messenger.
